WOULD STOP PEDDLING.

Council Desired to Stop Practice by Rejecting Sureties on Many in the Same Boat to But one Application Reject-

The anapai liquor bond performance of the course was enacted last Monday evening woon that body met in adjourned session for the purpose of passing upon the bonds that were presented to it for approval. The exhibition developed into a two p- farce comedy in the first act of w CHD you don't' performance was the and in the scond a "you do" entertainment ending with a grand finale of a "married in peace, died in grease and buried in a pot of tallow" order.

The interesting part of the performance began when the bond of Isanc Cohen came up for acceptance and the bond-men thereon were brought out into the limit light. Objection was raised to the validity of the bond and accepting of the Geben bond turned their x-ray machine onto the bondamen with the result that, after the tareah-178 was over with and the wheat arated from the chaff, and the piles sized up, it was pretty well recognized that this year's crop ran mostly to chaff and that, if there was no scaling down somewhere, the bushels would be all pecks. Then the curtain rang down on the first act and City Attorney Abbott, who was present as counsel for the board and Attorney Watson who was there in the interest of Liquor Bond but Found too several clients, were brought on for specialties. In a monologue between the attorneys and some of the council it Carry Threat Into Effect. developed that the real objection to system of charges can be maintained. the Cohen bond was not the bonds but the fact that Mr. Cohen's business methods are of the peripatetic order and in delivering his goods about the city and adjacent locations he worked in the mayor, now, therefore, a hardship on other saloon keeper who do not believe in the peddling method. The council had no objection to Mr. Cohen's taking out a license so long as it was laid aside. As each subsequent in the premises.
